

I live in Rocklin, CA, and listen to K-LOVE every day. Not only does K-LOVE provide family-friendly music without commercials, but they also keep me informed on local events. If expanding LPFM service will interfere with K-LOVE broadcasts using FM translators, then I and my family are definitely against this. In a time where our nation's airways are filled with foul language, lewd and sexually suggestive behavior (on television), and a movie rating system that's eroded into meaninglessness (i.e. allowing the "f" word in PG-13 rated movies), we need to bring back wholesome entertainment to our land. Don't put K-LOVE off the air by expanding LPFM service.

Sincerely, John Stevens and family (4 people total)
